

Save the Date

Telligen is providing free community capacity building workshops for Hospital Transformation Program (HTP) hospital teams and community partners in the Northwest (Craig).

LEAD! Leadership & Organizing in Action (LOA) Community Capacity Building Workshop: Building Shared Power, Shared Purpose & Collective Capacity

Telligen's LEAD! LOA is based on the Leadership, Organizing and Acton (LOA) work of Marshall Ganz at the Harvard Kennedy School (HKS), adapted by Telligen HKS LOA graduates, in partnership with other HKS alumni for healthcare quality improvement, health alliances, community coalitions and Community & Health Neighborhood Engagement (CHNE).

Date & Time

Monday, May 13, 2024

- Check-in at 8:30 am MT
- Training starts promptly at 9 am MT and ends at or before 4 pm MT

Location

Exact venue TBD in partnership with local planning team. Suggest a venue at rhayes@telligen.com.

Target Audience

- Hospital HTP teams
- Community partners working with hospital HTP teams
- HTP Community and Health Neighborhood Engagement (CHNE) leads
- Regional Accountable Entity (RAE) community engagement staff
- Regional Health Connectors
- Those leading community coalitions, collaboratives, health alliances

Learning Objectives

This is a 'Learning in Practice' workshop for you and your partners where you will:

- Co-design strategies with your partners to meet current HTP requirements and build capacity for the future
- Employ relational strategies to successfully engage clinicians and community members in HTP goals and benefits
- Collaborate on challenges most pressing for your community/health neighborhood
- Practice skills and techniques; share best practices, successes and wisdom within the group; coach and receive coaching from each other.

Mark your calendars now and watch for more details in the coming weeks.

For more information:

Meredith Koob (mkoob@telligen.com) or Risa Hayes (rhayes@telligen.com)

